---------------------------	----------

During the spring of 1906, 50 sugar maples and 12 elms were planted. In the early summer, a moderate amount of spraying was done for the elm-leaf beetle and the canker worm. The work of the canker worm was quite noticeable among the elms in a few places in North Easton. The ravages of this insect are of minor importance however, as compared with the destructive work of the gypsy and brown-tail moths, and are largely controlled by its natural enemies, the birds. The English sparrow was imported to this country for its suppression.

After spraying, a large amount of pruning was done. The greatest part of this work was in North Easton, clearing the street lights and freeing the streets and sidewalks of branches and trees which tended toward obstruction of public travel.

R. W. Melendy, the town superintendent of gypsy moth work, and L. W. Hodgkins, the state superintendent for this section, have scouted the town for egg clusters of the gypsy moth. Three were found. One was located in the orchard of Macomber Brothers in South Easton: another in an orchard behind the house occupied by C. R. Cole in Eastondale: and the last in C. H. Kimball's orchard on the turnpike south of Alger's corner. All three were treated with creosote. It is safe to predict that not more than half as many brown-tail moth nests will be found this season, as compared with last. Property owners are urged to familiarize themselves with the appearance of both gypsy and brown-tail moths that they may be held in check as much as possible.

For the care and maintenance of shade trees for 1907, the Tree Warden recommends an appropriation of $700.00

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN S. AMES,

Tree Warden of Easton.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

NORTH EASTON, MASS., JAN. 29, 1907.

To the Citizens of Easton:

The annual report of the Board of Health for the year ending Dec. 31, 1906, is herewith respectfully submitted:

In the first place, the Board feel much gratified to be able to state that they have been called upon to expend a much smaller amount of money during the year just closed than in 1905. In 1906, by approval of the Board the sum of $378.70 was expended as against $696.28 in 1905. The lessened expenditures is chiefly owing to the fact that the town has been singularly free from the presence of contagious diseases. In fact the small number of cases of infectious diseases reported during 1906 is almost unprecedented for the same length of time.

There was a limited epidemic of scarlet fever in the south western portion of the town in the early months of the year which necessitated the disinfection of the Union School house. There was one fatality—not from the disease, per se, but from the venal complication following it. Eleven cases of typhoid fever were reported during the autumn but they were generally of a mild type and no death resulted. Whooping cough and chicken pox were rumored to be prevalent during the latter half of the year, but of this the Board has but very little official information as the majority of these cases were treated domestically. Three cases of measles were reported at wide intervals during the year. This is something very unusual as this disease has rarely occurred here before except in wide spread epidemic.

The various markets and slaughter houses have been more frequently inspected in 1906 than here-to-fore and they have been found to be conducted very generally in a sanitary manner.

A very small number of complaints have been lodged with the Board but all those which have been submitted in writing have been promptly investigated and remedied so far as lay within the power of the Board.

As in the previous year typhoid fever was the most prevalent of any of the infectious diseases reported. Nevertheless only eleven cases were reported as against forty-one in 1905. Not a case of diphtheria has been reported, something unknown here for years.

Again the Board would urgently entreat all physicians to report all cases of infectious diseases which they are called upon to treat at the very earliest moment possible. This should be done on the cards furnished by the Board, and not verbally or by telephone. We would especially impress upon the physicians the desirability of reporting all cases of tuberculosis as soon as they come under their care.

The death rate was 1.6-10%; the birth rate 2.4-10%.
 Number of births, 118.
 Number of deaths, 79

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the Citizens of Easton:

We herewith submit our report for the year 1906.

The number of scholars of all ages enrolled in the
School Registers is:.....	1,098
Between the ages of seven and fourteen,.....	679
Over fifteen years,	98
Under five years,	55
Number in Town between five and fifteen years,	945
Attending the High School,	110

The Committee wish to call attention to the fact that our teachers are not as well paid as they should be. Their average pay is not as high as in other towns and cities of the State, while their average qualifications are higher. The Committee have exerted every effort to secure the best teachers, and it has been difficult to do this without increasing the school expenses. We think, however, that our present staff of teachers is second to none, and considering their ability and the great responsibility placed upon them by the parents of the younger children it seems no more than right that they should at least receive as much for their services as the teachers in other towns. We, therefore, recommend that in addition to the regular amounts raised and appropriated by the Town for the support of the schools for the year 1907, that $1,000 more be raised and appropriated for the salaries of teachers than was raised and appropriated for the year 1906, so that the requirements of the schools shall be as follows:

Salaries, fuel and care.....	$18,000 00
Text Books, furniture and transportation,....	2,000 00
Repairs,	1,000 00
Supplies and sundries,	1,000 00
	$22,000 00

Respectfully submitted,

WM. H. AMES, Chairman

D. F. BUCKLEY, Secretary

G. C. BELCHER.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT.

To the School Board of Easton, Mass.:

Gentlemen:—I hereby submit my second annual report, the twenty-first in the series of such reports to the School Committee of this town.

REPAIRS.

New floors have been laid in the first story of the old North Easton building, and there should also be new floors in the other two stories. This building, together with a number of the others, should soon be painted on the outside.

SCHOOL-ROOM DECORATIONS.

We are just now making a strong effort, especially in North Easton, to raise money for the purpose of purchasing pictures, busts and casts for our school rooms. Results may be reported next year.

REPORTS TO SUPERINTENDENT.

Reports are appended from the Principal of the Oliver Ames High School, the leaders of the Gymnasium and Band, the Supervisor of Music and the Supervisor of Drawing. The Sewing teachers inform me that 455 articles have been completed during the year by their classes. The Kindergarten, and Sloyd departments have nothing of special interest to report.

ATTENDANCE.

Attendance sheets have been issued every month from the superintendent's office. Our average for the year is well above the state average of 91 percent. The schools of Miss Marshall, Miss Fillmore, Miss E. Leach, Miss K. Hall, and Miss Reynolds, head the list in the order named.

EYE AND EAR TESTS AND SCHOOL PHYSICIAN.

By legislative enactment of 1906, annual sight and hearing tests must be given in all public schools. This year 149 cases of defective vision and 54 cases of defective hearing have been found, and 121 homes have been notified that a specialist ought to be consulted.

The following quotations from reports made by our teachers illustrate the importance of these eye and ear tests:

"In three or four cases the parents had no idea that there was anything wrong with the children's eyes."

"The parents have in every case taken action on learning about the defective sight."

"Two children have done better work since they have had medical attention."

"Several children were normal in one eye and defective in the other."

"In two cases the children seemed very restless and inattentive, and I find upon examination that in both cases the eyesight was very defective."

"Since our examination the mother of one of these children took him to an optician to be fitted to glasses, but the doctor refused to fit him until he had received treatment for the nerves, and the child is now out of school."

"Five pupils have consulted physicians and six more intend to do so."

"Two pupils have spectacles and are doing better work."

"Pupils have been blamed for inattention when the trouble was defective hearing."

"The greater part of these children were normal in one eye or ear and defective in the other."

"One child has had hospital treatment and now wears glasses."

"Five children have since our examination been fitted to glasses."

"One parent when notified said he did not think his boy's eyes needed attention. According to the test, his sight was two-fifths normal."

"There is one case of a little girl who can only read at ten feet what she should read at fifty feet. Both Miss _____ in whose room she was last year, and I, had no idea whatever of her poor sight."

"On examination one child's right eye was found to be in very bad condition, his vision being fifteen-fiftieths normal, while his left eye was normal."

"I found two pupils to be very defective in hearing, one of whom I knew about, but the other I did not suspect. The latter, because of more distinct talking on the part of the teacher, has already done better work."

"Two children, as far as I can find out, have never seen from the right eye."

"Another child cannot read large letters with either eye at a distance of five feet, but can with both. Action is being taken."

The following sections of the statutes are quoted (a) to show parents why teachers require certificates when children return to school after a sickness, and (b) to make voters aware of a new school physician requirement.

"A child who is a member of a household in which a person is ill with smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, or ANY OTHER INFECTIOUS OR CONTAGIOUS DISEASE, or of a household exposed to such contagion from another household as aforesaid, SHALL NOT ATTEND ANY PUBLIC SCHOOL during such illness until the teacher of the school has been FURNISHED WITH A CERTIFICATE FROM THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OR TOWN, OR FROM THE ATTENDING PHYSICIAN of such person, stating that the danger of conveying such disease by such child has passed."

"The school committee of every city and town in the Commonwealth shall appoint one or more school physicians, shall assign one to each public school within its city or town, and shall provide them with all proper facilities for the performance of their duties as prescribed in this act: provided however, that in cities wherein the board of health is already maintaining or shall hereafter maintain substantially such medical inspection as this act requires, the board of health shall appoint and assign the school physician."

"Every school physician shall make a prompt examination and diagnosis of all children referred to him as hereinafter provided, and such further examination of teachers, janitors and school buildings as in his opinion the protection of the health of the pupils may require."

"The school committee shall cause to be referred to a school physician for examination and diagnosis every child returning to school without a certificate from the board of health after absence on account of illness or from unknown cause; and every child in the schools under its jurisdiction who shows signs of being in ill health or of suffering from infectious or contagious disease, unless he is at once excluded from school by the teacher; except that in the case of schools in remote or isolated situations the school committee may make such other arrangements as may best carry out the purposes of this act."

"The school committee shall cause notice of the defects or disease, if any, from which any child is found to be suffering, to be sent to his parent or guardian. Whenever a child shows symptoms of smallpox, scarlet fever, measles, chickenpox, tuberculosis, diphtheria or influenza, tonsilitis, whooping cough, mumps, scabies or trachoma, he shall be sent home immediately, or as soon as safe and proper conveyance can be found, and the board of health shall at once be notified."

COURSE OF STUDY CHANGES.

The courses in arithmetic, geography, and physiology, have been worked over and made uniform. All schools of the same grade are now using the same text books in all subjects.

The geography course of study has been revised and definite directions given for the use of the Frye geography in grammar grades, and all teachers have received new outlines for topical work.

The course of study in arithmetic in grades three four and five remains unchanged. We have introduced the Smith arithmetic into grades six, seven, eight and nine, in response to the legitimate demand of our teachers that in the higher grades a topic once taken up should not be dropped until thoroughly treated. The new books also recognize the equally important principle that a subject once taught is not taught for all time, but that there must be review work done at regular intervals. In the Smith text, in the first part of each year's work, the preceding year's work is summed up and reviewed. The amount of number required in grades one and two has been reduced; and a new outline has been prepared in which counting, and linear and surface measurements, comprise the major part of the exercises.

Intensive work in physiology and hygiene is now done during the winter term in grades five, seven, and eight, and in the High School; while the subject is given a fair amount of attention in all grades. The Course of Study of THE COMMITTEE OF TWELVE, which emphasizes particularly the hygiene, has been modified to suit local conditions and adopted for use. We are using the Brown and Krohn text-books, as they are best adapted to the new course of study.

At the beginning of the fall term, Rev. W. L. Chaffin kindly consented to prepare a topical outline to accompany his "History of Easton" and to be used in grades four and five. Of course no one could do this work so well as Mr. Chaffin, and we are greatly indebted to him for his help. Many parents seem to appreciate this chance to have their children obtain a knowledge of their town's history.

COURSE OF STUDY IN HIGH SCHOOL.

The old course of study has been revised several times to satisfy new conditions, and deviations have frequently been made from the revisions to answer the desires of individual pupils. A new course should grow out of this old one, whose principal feature ought to be an elective system broad enough to meet the needs of all pupils. This new schedule ought to comprehend more courses than the present one, but a minimum number of pupils should be required to elect a subject if it is to be taught.

A certain number of periods per week ought to be prescribed, and the number of periods to be elected by the pupil should increase as he advances from year to year, while the amount of prescribed work should at the same time decrease. Of course it will be necessary for certain subjects, like English, to be prescribed for all pupils; and for certain other subjects, like typewriting, to be elected only with the understanding that they must be carried for a definite length of time.

The Principal of the High School and the Superintendent have consulted Mr. J. W. MacDonald, Agent of the State Board of Education, regarding this course of study, have procured courses from fifteen or twenty other similarly situated Massachusetts high schools, and are now giving this matter serious and deliberate consideration. The new course when completed should be followed without modification for a term of years.

GENERAL CHANGES.

We are doing mechanical drill work with cards in all subjects. This is in recognition of the fact that the principles involved in school teaching are the same as those involved in music teaching, where the exercise work is as important as the learning of new selections.

The history work and the composition writing of grades five and six have been closely related, the class searching out the author's outline as it reads orally,—incidentally getting the idea of what a paragraph is,—and finally reproducing on paper the day's lesson from the outline prepared during the reading.

Two or three times a week in all grammar grades, ten minutes are devoted to written abstract number work. Long examples in addition, multiplication, division, and two in subtraction are given.

Our teachers of primary grades are doing an increasing amount of story telling, demanding from the children in return oral reproduction and dramatization, which they greatly enjoy. This is splendid work, as it increases the child's vocabulary, drills him in the use of correct forms, and enables the teacher to detect and note the habitual use of incorrect phrases. Generally teachers talk too much and children too little. On an average, a child during the five hours of a school day, does not do more than five or six minutes of actual talking.

We are indebted to Miss Mary C. Lamprey for the preparation of selected lists of poems for memory work in the grades. These poems, whose titles will soon appear in pamphlet form, have been taught in our schools during the past year.

Each grade should learn thoroughly one or two famous songs and only those songs whose words have literary value, and whose music is of a high standard, should be selected. The Supervisor of Music, by request, is now preparing such a list.

Because the facilities for lighting and ventilating the small rooms of the North Easton building were considered inadequate, and because we desired to so utilize our teaching force that children might during school hours receive individual as well as class teaching, the partitions between these small rooms were removed during the summer months. The health of pupils is now better protected, and the time of teachers is more economically and profitably employed, than was the case last year.

TEACHERS' WAGES.

The total income of the nation in 1900, according to an estimate made on a liberal basis, was $551.56 per laborer, the entire number of people engaged in gainful occupations being twenty-nine millions. The general average of teacher's salaries in 1903, in the whole United States was $475 a year.

The average wages per month of female teachers in Massachusetts for the school year 1904-05 was $57.22. The average wages of female teachers in Easton today, after the increases of last June, is $48.22.

In 1905, Easton's rank, according to the amount yielded for each child in the average membership of the public schools, by the local tax for school support, was 199, the amount yielded for our schools being $20.93, against $28.49 the state average.

A study of the above statistics reveals the fact that as yet our teachers are by no means overpaid.

CONCLUSION.

For all help received during the year from School Committee, teachers, and parents, I gratefully return thanks.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERIC S. POPE, JR.

North Easton, Mass., January 22, 1907.

REPORT OF GYMNASIUM AND BAND INSTRUCTORS EMPLOYED THROUGH THE BENEFICENCE OF MRS. ANNA C. AMES.

Frederic S. Pope Jr., Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR SIR:

The Ames Gymnasium offers to the boys and girls of the North Easton schools the very best opportunity for the exercise they need. Throughout the year, on the three afternoons devoted to the boys, they have had all the privileges of a well equipped gymnasium. Dumb-bells, chest-weights and apparatus work, which are the most beneficial exercises, have been kept up regularly, and the attendance at the present time is fully as large as it ever was.

Boys have been taken in at an earlier age this year than ever before, and the result has been very satisfactory, as they are more interested and their advance more rapid; furthermore, as soon as they have gained sufficient strength to control themselves, they do the work in better form and are far more graceful. Several of the grammar school boys have become very clever little gymnasts and the effects of the gymnasium work is very readily seen.

The Basket Ball prospects are more encouraging than ever before. At present we have the best High School basket-ball team that has ever represented our school, due chiefly to the fact that there is more school spirit and a greater willingness on the part of the boys to work for the best interest of their team and school. The absence of all friction, and the perfect harmony among the boys, are pleasing features and of utmost importance. A more earnest endeavor to make the most of our opportunities, to place our school in the lead and make our athletic teams the best will be appreciated and give still better results.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY S. PRATT.

North Easton, Mass., January 21, 1907.

Frederic S. Pope Jr., Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR SIR:

The girls show marked improvement in their gymnasium work as each succeeding exhibition proves. Never since the gymnasium was established have they shown such excellent work, especially in dancing and club swinging, as they did at last year's exhibition.

The girls at the Grammar School particularly deserve commendation for their excellent efforts, and all enter into the work with unbounded enthusiasm and pleasure, which means so much to the teacher.

Basket-ball still continues to be the all popular game, and that it is a splendid vigorous game for the growing girl, when kept within the proper limits by the instructor, none can deny. It gives to girls that strength, agility, alertness and muscular vigor so essential to proper growth and development.

The importance of athletic work for the growing youth is being realized more and more each year, as the records prove conclusively that it is in the schools that have no gymnastic training, that the large number of lateral curvatures of the spine (with their attendant weak lung capacity) abound.

Respectfully submitted,

MAUDE E. SCANLON.

North Easton, Mass., January 21, 1907.

Frederic S. Pope Jr., Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR SIR:

Not having time to go into the matter thoroughly concerning the Band, I will say, we stand on about the same basis as last year. All the instruments are taken, a few new boys have been taken in as regular members, and rehearsals are held every Tuesday evening throughout the entire winter. Many numbers are rehearsed that the Band are not able to play during the summer concerts, still it gives the boys an insight into music which it will be necessary for them to have later on. We invariably have a good attendance, but are placed at a disadvantage by the inability of the older and more competent players to attend, their work and studies in other cities making it practically impossible for them to get to North Easton. I trust the summer concerts will show how hard the boys have worked, and that the public will realize that in giving these concerts the young men are doing their best to make summer evenings pass pleasantly, and a little appreciation of meritorious effort will encourage greatly. The boys all feel thankful for the opportunity afforded them to learn music, and extend their thanks to the founder and supporter of the work.

Yours truly,

H. E. BRENTON.

Boston, Mass., January 24, 1907.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF OLIVER AMES HIGH SCHOOL.

Mr. Frederic S. Pope Jr., Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR SIR:

I hereby submit my second annual report as Principal of the Oliver Ames High School.

This year we have enrolled 101 pupils, 41 boys and 60 girls which number is high considering the exceptionally large class of 24 which left us by graduating last June. We have 12 in our present Senior Class. The 36 Freshmen who came to us this year were splendidly prepared for the High School, and the manner in which they are working and behaving reflects much credit on their former teachers. One of our last year's graduates went to Simmons College. Three of our present Seniors are planning to go to Bridgewater Normal, and 22 of the under class men are fitting for college, a normal or technical school. Besides this we have a large number in the Commercial Department fitting for office positions. The influence of this large percentage of pupils working for a definite purpose is most helpful.

By employing another teacher, Mr. Harry S. Pratt, half time, our committee has strengthened the entire school. There is now no excuse except lack of energy and ability, for any pupil to fall behind in his work for he can obtain whatever help he needs from any or all of his teachers, all of whom have at least five periods per week which they devote to these special cases. In addition to this at least one teacher is in the building every afternoon. The conditions are now such that the better workers may fit themselves thoroughly in the Commercial Course for office positions, or in the Latin Course for college, normal or technical schools. Of course to fit for any of these requires a clear mind and much hard work. The pupil whose grade falls below "G" in any study is not up to standard for such preparation. If he wishes to get extra results he must do extra work.

Early in the year we received an urgent request for more Book-keeping especially for Seniors but as there were only about half a dozen schools in the state giving more than we were and hundreds giving less, we did not feel justified in substituting this for one of the regular studies. We did offer it as an extra, however, for those who wished to make extra preparation, but strange as it may seem, nobody has taken the course. The need is not for more recitations in any study but for more thorough preparation of each lesson. No matter what course the pupil is taking he should study at home at least two hours every day in his Freshman and Sophomore years, and two and one half in his Junior and Senior years, unless he can do practically perfect work without. Of those pupils who fail, I find that almost invariably it is through irregular habits of study, so I would emphasize the need of doing this work every day.

I feel that the entire school is stronger this year than it was last. The discipline has been easier and decidedly better all through the building; and as might be expected, there has been a corresponding improvement in industry. Over 25 percent of our pupils have been doing practically perfect work in all their studies this year. In several instances pupils who were backward last year have made a splendid improvement, and I don't know of a single instance where a pupil has shown marked deterioration. Our music is distinctly creditable. The boys and girls are taking hold with energy and enthusiasm.

All this is encouraging but is only a step in the right direction, and it seems to me, that, as conditions are changing, we could improve our course still more by giving it greater elasticity. I would advise that special studies be required of all and certain other studies be made elective. Then if a pupil so desired he might take extra work in book-keeping, mathematics, the sciences, etc. If certain others should find themselves unable to carry either Latin or the Commercial work they might elect other studies and still maintain their class standing. As space is limited here I will submit a detailed plan to the Superintendent and School Board before the close of the year. The present course is working well except that it lacks elasticity.

I would renew my application for a hood in the chemical laboratory to carry off the poisonous gases. There are times when it is almost impossible to perform certain important experiments because of the gases evolved.

I would further suggest that all teachers in the High School be given three or at least two visiting days per year. They have only one now. The schools would be better for it. To see somebody else struggling with the same problems of discipline, method, school management, etc., takes us out of ourselves and inspires us to do more work and do it better.

In closing I wish to say a good word for our janitor. He is the right man in the right place. He is always on time, always courteous, and always willing to do what he can to be helpful.

Sincerely yours,

C. P. KENDALL.

Jan. 22, 1907.

Mr. Frederic S. Pope Jr., Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR SIR:

It gives me pleasure to again report progress in the study of music. A few years ago, musical instruction was an experiment, today it has an assured place in public school instruction. Then it was taught for itself alone, but educators have come to see that the study of music is an invaluable help along other lines of study. Its first object is of course, to develop the musical faculty in early childhood, but while accomplishing this end it also trains the mind along other lines of work. While training the ear, it teaches the child accuracy, and while training the vocal organs it is teaching the child exactness of pronunciation and clearness of articulation. If the far reaching results of musical instruction could be summed up, it would be found to have a wide influence over the pupil's whole school life. Unfortunately this cannot be done, but I believe that every boy and girl in Easton has received help along all these lines from the study of music during the past year.

We have been favored with the introduction of a number of new books. The Harmonic Music Reader has been placed in some of the schools. This is a revised edition of the Natural Course in Music, the book now in use. The Harmonic Reader is full of new things, and is a very interesting book to children. I wish to recommend that it be introduced into all the schools as fast as the old books become too worn for use.

The ninth grade has been favored with the Laurel Music Reader. This reader is always pleasing to the older boys and girls and the music in this grade always takes on new life wherever this book is introduced.

The Laurel Song Book which has been placed in the High School contains by far the most difficult music which has ever been used in this school. It speaks well for the pupils that they are able to take up such music and that they are enthusiastic in its study.

Respectfully submitted,

J. E. SHEPARDSON,

Supervisor of Music.

Mr. Frederic S. Pope Jr., Superintendent of Schools.

The general plan of work during the fall was to develop original thought and expression, and to represent simple objects and gain power to express them from imagination. This work will be more fully developed in the primary grades in the following months.

Printed outlines of work have been given all the grades, and two teacher's meetings were held. The purpose of these meetings was to have the teachers do class work at their desks, thus enabling them to do better teaching in their classes.

The fall work consisted in drawing and painting from nature.

Lettering was introduced in all the grades above the third year. The sloyd models made in the workshop, have been used in connection with the work in mechanical drawing, thus correlating the manual training and drawing.

In the High School several weeks were spent in model and object drawing; then followed a course in lettering, and illuminating the text, a few being finished in passe partout.

The design work will cover a period of two months, and already much interest has been manifested in the subject. This is a subject that develops the creative power which belongs to those who have imaginative gifts, but appreciation lies in every human soul.

The handicraft is worked out in several materials. The leather work is simple, and noiseless, and the results are quickly obtained. The brass and copper are being used for trays of various shapes and sizes, and lamp shades and candle stick holders are being constructed.

I wish to thank Miss Kilburn and her class for the outlines and schedules of work that have been type written by her pupils.

The Committee and Superintendent have been very generous in their supply of drawing materials, thus enabling us to follow out many lines of work in the drawing course.

Respectfully,

KATHERINE D. WHITMAN.
